(Cos)

(a) An ability to apply knowledge of mathematics, science, and engineering,

(b) An ability to design and conduct experiments, as well as to analyze and interpret data

(c) An ability to design a system, component, or process to meet desired needs within realistic constraints such as economic, environmental, social, political, ethical, health and safety, manufacturability,

(d) An ability to function on multidisciplinary teams,

(e) An ability to identify, formulate, and solve engineering problems,

(f) An understanding of professional and ethical responsibility,

(g) An ability to communicate effectively,

(h) The broad education necessary to understand the impact of engineering solutions in a global, economic, environmental, and societal context.

Mechanism of Communication of Course Outcomes

2.6.2 - Attainment of Programme outcomes and course outcomes are evaluated by the institution.

1. CO-PO Mapping Instructors collaboratively align COs with POs, categorizing the alignment into three levels: highly mapped, moderately mapped and low mapped, scored as 3, 2 and 1 respectively.
2. CO Attainment Level for direct assessment through Internal Test
The evaluation of Course Outcomes (COs) via internal tests employs a threshold criterion of 50. Attainment levels are categorized as follows: Level 3: If 70% or more of the students score above 50. Level 2: If the percentage of students scoring above 50 falls within the range of 60% to 70%. Level 1: If less than 60% of the students score above 50.
3. Assignment, presentation, viva voce and attendance are assessed against 60% cutoff, whereas the semester-end examination is assessed against 50%, following the same attainment levels as internal tests.

4. Average Attainment Level is determined by evaluating all direct assessment tools, multiplying each achieved score by its respective weight age. Subsequently, an average attainment level is computed, integrating both internal assessment and semester-end examination methods with 40% and 60% weightage respectively.

5. CO Attainment Through Indirect Assessment (Feedback) Indirect assessment for CO attainment categorizes feedback scores: above 4 = level 3, 3-4 = level 2 and below 3 = level 1.

6. The Overall attainment level is computed by considering the average attainment level derived in point 5 and the feedback from point 6, weighted at 80% and 20% respectively. By summing up all attainments and dividing by the number of COs, the Average CO Attainment Level is determined.

7. PO Attainment Calculation PO attainment is derived by averaging the Course Articulation Matrix, then multiplying by the Average CO Attainment Level, divided by 3.
